The University of South Australia (UniSA) was formed in 1991, with a collection of colleges, institutes and schools coming together to create a single university.

Known for our teaching quality, high level of support for students, and strengths in areas such as engineering, education, art and design, nursing and more, we were building strong foundations for future growth.

Now, we are ranked in the Top 50 young universities in the world.*

We have developed an enviable research profile, with our researchers engaged in more than 500 international collaborations across 45 countries. We are making a difference in areas as diverse as water quality, cancer treatment, waste management, solar power and much more.

Our teaching programs receive international accolades and feature regularly in Top 100 lists worldwide.

UniSA is recognised globally as an enthusiastic, creative and capable business partner with well over 2,500 national and international partnerships. These reinforce our teaching and research programs, and provide real opportunities for our students. We have invested heavily in new buildings and facilities. Our students use the latest technologies and learn in modern, purpose-built teaching spaces.

We contribute actively to the intellectual, cultural and sporting life in South Australia through legacies such as the Anne & Gordon Samstag Museum of Art, the Hawke Centre, and through our sponsorship of events including the Santos Tour Down Under – the largest cycling race in the southern hemisphere. Each year our on-campus health and legal clinics also provide thousands of free and low cost services to the local community.

Since 1991, we have graduated more than 150,000 students from more than 160 countries. We are one of the leading providers of education internationally and a trailblazer in the area of access to higher education.

We are a young, confident university, and we see our future as creating a culture of enterprise. A culture where people are bold, imaginative and prepared to take risks to respond to local, national and global challenges.

The future is now. Make your mark with UniSA.

Having come from high school in Vietnam, Nhu transitioned to UniSA via the Centre for English Language (CELUSA).

“I did not have an IELTS score so I did a 30 week English language program to enable me to enter UniSA.”

As a new student, Nhu was quite shy, but she quickly gained confidence by joining the Business School’s Vietnamese Student Club.

“When I joined the Club I got a lot of support from my peers. I became involved in activities and events where I could communicate with people from many different countries.”

Nhu also became the Club Treasurer, giving her valuable work experience and opportunities to network with the teaching staff.

Eduardo Sanz / BACHELOR OF INTERIOR ARCHITECTURE

Eduardo Sanz was looking to focus his studies on interior architecture and found UniSA was one of the few universities in Australia offering this course.

“I chose UniSA’s School of Art, Architecture and Design for its quality and prestige.

“Studying at UniSA has been a good experience and the City West Campus is going through a renovation at the moment, which is very inspiring for a student such as me.

“The opening of the student lounge was very exciting. Other facilities such as classrooms, lecture theatres and the Jeffrey Smart Building are all very good and have the latest technologies.”

Diana was ready to challenge herself and explore the unknown, so she decided to study overseas and combine her interests in psychology and human resource management.

“UniSA has great psychology and human resources courses. I enjoy doing practicals and learning how the coursework applies to real-world scenarios.

“UniSA also offers great services in professional self-development. I have gained practical experience through the UNITE Leadership Program, and volunteering under Community, Connect Club and EASS E-Pal Program.

“The events that UniSA organises are also fun and engaging, and I have been able to make new friends.”

After completing a Diploma in Civil Aviation in Singapore, Shantni decided to advance her studies at UniSA and call Adelaide home.

“The thing I enjoy most would be the student activities organised by UniSA as it allows us to meet people from all over the world.

“I was also selected to be a U-Buddy as well as a student ambassador, which taught me that there’s more to learn beyond just the books.”

In the future, Shantni aspires to run an airport as either an airport or terminal manager.

Determined to improve his English and pursue a career in engineering, Tiago travelled to Australia from Brazil to complete a short-term study opportunity. Enrolling through UniSA’s Centre for English Language (CELUSA), Tiago quickly adapted to life abroad.

“When I just arrived in Australia, my confidence in my language skills was so low and in just the first few classes, this changed completely.

“Taking a university degree at any level is not an easy objective to achieve, especially in a foreign country. There are so many difficulties that international students are exposed to. Therefore, it is very important to choose a university which supports you.”

Emily's ambition has always been to work for herself so she created her own start-up tech company while studying.

“My current driving ambition is to learn as much as I can and take that out into the world.”

Emily has had early success, signing a contract with Google US to help support the Conservation of Oraguta nests in the forest canopies of Borneo using drone-captured footage.

FOR UNDERGRADUATE ADMISSION
YOU’LL NEED
• An Australian Year 12 or equivalent international program; or
• A recognised Foundation Studies program; or
• A SAIBT, Eynesbury, TAFE or other recognised pathway program.
Bachelor degrees range from three to five years of study. Specific information about your choice of program can be found in the program section of this guide, or online.

unisa.edu.au/international/apply

AUSTRALIAN TERTIARY ADMISSION RANK (ATAR)
If you are an international student studying the Australian Year 12 curriculum in Australia or offshore, entry to the University’s undergraduate programs is determined by your ATAR, and a score is provided for each program. If you do not have an ATAR we will convert your results from your international qualification – if it is equivalent to Australian Year 12 standard – to determine your equivalent ATAR. If you are an international student studying Year 12 in Australia or offshore, you will need to apply for admission through the South Australian Tertiary Admissions Centre (SATAC).

satac.edu.au

CREDIT TRANSFER
If you have completed previous studies at university, in a diploma program or equivalent post-secondary qualification, you may receive credit, exemptions or advanced standing towards your degree at the University of South Australia. You can also be considered for credit if you have work experience in an area relevant to your studies. Check our Credit Assessor database to see if your qualification is listed. If it is not, send in an application anyway and we’ll check it for you.

creditassessor.unisa.edu.au
MINIMUM ENGLISH LANGUAGE ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

The table below sets out the minimum English language requirements for entry into programs at the University of South Australia and is provided as a guide only. Many programs require higher international English language proficiency scores than those below, so you’ll need to check the specific score for your preferred program in the charts on pages 95–98.

Applicants from countries where English is an official language or who have recent study experience in an English setting may be able to use this study to meet the English language proficiency requirement. If you have completed previous study in English you must send certified documentation from the educational institution stating that the language of instruction was English. The University’s international office will consider all applications individually.
