Psychology Clinic

Offering affordable psychological services to the community

ABOUT

The UniSA Psychology Clinic provides high-quality, affordable psychological services to the general community. Psychological therapy is provided by provisional psychologists (postgraduate clinical psychology students) under the supervision of fully-qualified clinical psychologists.

We help you find ways to overcome difficulties and cope better so that you have a healthier, happier and more fulfilled life.

We offer therapeutic services for children, adolescents, adults and families in areas including:

- anxiety and related disorders (panic, social anxiety, generalised anxiety, Obsessive Compulsive Disorder, illness anxiety)
- depression and mood problems
- Posttraumatic Stress Disorder and adjustment problems
- sleep problems including CPAP machine intolerance associated with sleep apnoea (psychological treatment provided in conjunction with the Royal Adelaide Hospital)
- child emotional and behavioural problems
- assessments of learning difficulties
