4. Your understanding of the New Colombo Plan objectives and, if you were to win a scholarship, how you would contribute to the goals.

"I heard about the NCP in first year when I wasn't sure about my degree, career or life direction. I took a chance, and was selected as the first NCP Scholar in South Korea and it absolutely changed my life. The high standard of teaching in Korea, learning a new language, meeting international students from different engineering streams, experiencing a different corporate work culture and all of the travel and networking shaped the final year of my degree and put me in a position to be the best in my field. The benefits of my NCP journey are still continuing four years later!"
