Tommy (UNITED STATES) Her Majesty's Theatre (MUSIC)

The Who's iconic 1969 rock opera Tommy launched the band to international stardom and inspired re-interpretations in film, opera, a stage musical and more. Now, in the 50th anniversary year of The Who, the staggeringly successful double album is re-interpreted in a radical new way. Led by Eric Mingus and Hal Willner, this re-working of the classic features an eclectic cast of rock and roll raconteurs in the starring roles, including Gavin Friday.

Azimut (FRANCE) Adelaide Festival Centre, Festival Theatre (THEATRE)

Gravity and impossibility star as this ensemble of acrobats curl in fabric folds mid-air, walk the ceiling upside-down, build unfeasible human pyramids and vanish through invisible traps. A mastermind of physics and illusion, the boundary-breaking Bory draws on the phenomenon of ancient Moroccan acrobatics.

Cedar Lake – Mixed Rep & Orbo Novo (United States)
Adelaide Festival Centre, Festival Theatre (DANCE)

Featuring extraordinary works by three of the world's most forward-thinking choreographers, Mixed Rep showcases the remarkable versatility of this New York contemporary ballet company's expansive catalogue. From Jiri Kylian's cleverly constructed celebration of youth Indigo Rose, to Crystal Pite's refreshing literal and intimate Ten Duets on a Theme of Rescue, and the dark and primal Violet Kid in Hofesh Shechter's unmistakable style, this is one of the world's most innovative dance companies at its exceptionally-talented best.

Fela! The Concert (UNITED STATES)
Adelaide Festival Centre, Festival Theatre (MUSIC)

Fela Kuti's musical legacy is as influential as the story of his extraordinary life. Fela! The Concert captures the best of the spectacularly successful Broadway musical, as Kuti's most captivating songs are performed by a ten-piece band and cast of singers and dancers from the original production.

Black Diggers (AUSTRALIA)
Her Majesty's Theatre (THEATRE)

This is the untold story of Aboriginal soldiers in World War I. Shunned in their own country, they stepped up to defend the nation in its greatest time of need. They fought and died for the British Commonwealth, sharing horror, survival and camaraderie with mates in the trenches who ordinarily couldn't buy them a beer. An all-male, all-Indigenous cast evokes these fearless and heroic men, largely unknown to history, who helped win the war but lost their battle back home.
