

INVITATION

Is it time for a change? In the year before the next European election, the member states are tackling rising nationalism and populism. At the same time, they have to establish the European Union as a strong, forward-looking unit.

"Europe 3.0 – Between Integration, Globalisation and Nationalism" deals with a broad range of important political and economic developments of today's European Union as well as with human rights protection in Europe in times of increasing digitalisation.

We invite you to attend an academically demanding and wide-ranging programme. Explore with us the European capitals and experience the inspiring atmosphere of an international seminar.
